Baisha Aoyun Village Hotel (Accommodation Venue)

The Baisha Aoyun Village Hotel, one of the premier accommodations in Baisha County, is a designated venue for hosting China's national sports teams. Spanning over 65,000 square meters, the hotel offers more than 300 rooms and provides a wide range of facilities, including a reception lobby, dining center, conference center, supermarket, café, tea room, and private KTV rooms.

National Sports Training Southern Base (Competition Venue)

Situated next to the National Sports Training Southern Base, the hotel allows guests to enjoy top-notch fitness amenities such as gym facilities, basketball and badminton courts, soccer fields, track and field areas, swimming pools, and climbing walls. Each of the hotel's spacious rooms, starting at 45 square meters, is bright and airy, furnished with luxurious rosewood pieces that exude elegance. For those seeking a balance of comfort and leisure, the Baisha Olympic Village Hotel is the perfect choice.

Baisha Li Autonomous County

Nestled in the heart of Hainan Island's central-western region, Baisha Li Autonomous County is a gem surrounded by Qiongzhong to the east, Ledong to the south, Changjiang to the west, and Danzhou to the north. Known for its breathtaking landscapes, Baisha is often described as "a world of mountains, the source of waters, an ocean of forests, and the homeland of clouds." It offers a wealth of natural beauty and cultural heritage, with strong ties to the Li ethnic culture.

Baisha's Unique Cuisine

Fish Tea and Meat Tea: Li Tribe Delicacies

Baisha is home to a unique traditional dish known as Fish Tea and Meat Tea. Despite the name, it isn't related to the tea you drink. These delicacies, also referred to as sour fish and sour meat, are made by fermenting freshwater fish, pork, or beef with rice and cornmeal. The result is a slightly tangy, mildly salty dish with a tender yet chewy texture, loved by locals.

Baisha Ethnic Banquet

In Baisha, you can experience an authentic ethnic feast, featuring local specialties like secret hand-pulled beef, Tianhu fish, and thunder god root egg rolls. These dishes are complemented by traditional Li snacks, such as fire ash sticky rice dumplings, three-colored rice, bamboo rice, and Baisha coconut jelly, all served on long tables by women dressed in traditional Li attire.

Hainan Province

Hainan Province is an island like a dazzling pearl embedded in the South China Sea, and it is the only tropical island province in China. The island covers an area of approximately 33,900 square kilometers, with a vast space stretching about 290 kilometers in length and 180 kilometers in width. Its 1,800 kilometers of coastline showcase the endless charm of the island. The climate on the island belongs to a tropical marine monsoon climate, with spring-like weather throughout the year. Temperatures remain between 22-26°C year-round, and there is almost no cold winter. Hainan Island enjoys a pleasant climate, with temperatures above 20°C for up to 286 days a year. The island is covered with lush green vegetation and surrounded by the blue sea, painting a picturesque scene. Every inch of the land exudes a unique, peaceful charm. Whether you visit at any time of the year, you can fully enjoy the comfortable and pleasant weather and experience the beauty of an eternal spring.
